The Securities Investor Protection Corporation (“SIPC”) submits this memorandum in support of the motion (“Motion”) of Irving H. Picard, as trustee (“Trustee”) for the substantively consolidated liquidation under the Securities Investor Protection Act (“SIPA”), 15 U.S.C. §§ 78aaa–78lll, of Bernard L. Madoff Investment Securities LLC (“BLMIS”) and Bernard L. Madoff, to affirm the Trustee’s determinations denying the claims of claimants (“Claimants”) holding interests in one of the following limited liability companies: AHT Partners; Pergament Equities, LLC; SMT Investors LLC; Greene/Lederman, L.L.C.; and Turbo Investors, LLC (collectively, the “Companies”). Under SIPA and this Court’s prior decisions, the Claimants are not “customers” of BLMIS and thus have no claim to the fund of customer property in this liquidation and, in addition, cannot have their claims satisfied with funds advanced by SIPC.

BACKGROUND

Through the Motion, the Trustee seeks entry of an order upholding his denial of twenty claims for “customer” relief under SIPA as members of one of the Companies: one filed by a member of AHT Partners; two filed by members of Pergament Equities, LLC; seven filed by members of SMT Investors LLC; nine filed by members of Greene/Lederman, L.L.C.; and one filed by a member of Turbo Investors, LLC. Each of the Companies had an account in its own name with BLMIS, and each of the Claimants holds an interest in one of the Companies. Claimants have alleged no credible relationship with BLMIS.

As described in more detail in the Trustee’s Motion, each of the Companies was a limited liability company at the time that BLMIS was placed into liquidation. Each Company executed account opening documents and made deposits into, and withdrawals from, its account.¹ In contrast with the Companies’ relationships with BLMIS, the Claimants never completed account agreements and never opened accounts with BLMIS. The books and records of BLMIS do not reflect that Claimants were BLMIS account holders or that they entrusted their own cash or securities to BLMIS. Indeed, the Claimants did not have individual control over the Companies' investments at BLMIS and did not have any financial transactions with BLMIS on an individual basis. In short, all Claimants' claims addressed by the Motion are entirely derived from their status as interest holders in the Companies.

ARGUMENT

SIPA's provisions for customer protection are narrowly tailored to provide relief only to those claimants who entrusted cash or securities to the liquidating broker-dealer for the purpose of trading in the securities markets. See In re Bernard L. Madoff Inv. Sec. LLC, 654 F.3d 229, 236 (2d Cir. 2011) (the "Net Equity Decision"), cert. dismissed, ___ U.S. ___, 132 S. Ct. 2712 (2012), and cert. den., ___ U.S. ___, 133 S. Ct. 24 (2012), and 133 S. Ct. 25 (2012); Stafford v. Giddens (In re New Times Sec. Servs., Inc.), 463 F.3d 125, 127–28 (2d Cir. 2006) ("New Times") ("Judicial interpretations of 'customer' status support a narrow interpretation of the SIPA's provisions." (quoting Sec. Inv'r Prot. Corp. v. Wise (In re Stalvey & Assocs., Inc.), 750 F.2d 464, 472 (5th Cir. 1985)). In defining who qualifies as a customer, SIPA requires that the viable claim of a customer relate to the custodial relationship between broker and customer: cash or securities held by the broker for the customer in an account at the broker in which the customer holds a cognizable interest. Specifically, under SIPA,

[t]he term "customer" of a debtor means any person (including any person with whom the debtor deals as principal or agent) who has a claim on account of securities received, acquired, or held by the debtor in the ordinary course of its business as a broker or dealer from or for the securities accounts of such person for safekeeping, with a view to sale, to cover consummated sales, pursuant to purchases, as collateral security, or for purposes of effecting transfer. The term "customer" includes any person who has a claim against the debtor arising out of sales or conversions of such securities, and any person who has deposited cash with the debtor for the purpose of purchasing securities

See SIPA § 78lll(2) (2008) (emphasis added). Furthermore, the obligations of a liquidating broker-dealer to a claimant for “customer” relief must be ascertainable from the broker-dealer’s books and records, or must be established “to the satisfaction of the trustee.” See SIPA § 78fff-2(b).

Customer status under SIPA is thus not a shorthand designation for anyone who can claim a remote, if any, relationship to a broker-dealer. Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp. v. Morgan, Kennedy & Co., 533 F.2d 1314, 1316 (2d Cir.) (“Morgan Kennedy”), cert. den. sub nom., Trs. of the Reading Body Works v. Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp., 426 U.S. 936 (1976). On the contrary, in order to qualify for such status, a claimant must be able to demonstrate that the claimant: (1) entrusted cash or securities to the broker-dealer; (2) did so pursuant to a direct account or other direct relationship with the broker-dealer; (3) retained the power to direct the disposition of the assets entrusted to the broker-dealer; and (4) intended to use the cash or securities entrusted to the broker-dealer for the purpose of investing or trading in the securities markets. See SIPA § 78lll(2) (2008); New Times, 463 F.3d at 128–29; Morgan Kennedy, 533 F.2d at 1317; Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp. v. Bernard L. Madoff Inv. Sec. LLC, 454 B.R. 285, 295–302 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2011) (“BLMIS”), aff’d sub nom., Aozora Bank Ltd. v. Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp., 480 B.R. 117 (S.D.N.Y. 2012) (“Aozora”), aff’d sub nom., Kruse v. Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp. (In re Bernard L. Madoff Inv. Secs. LLC), 708 F.3d 422 (2d Cir. 2013) (“Kruse”); see also Appleton v. First Nat’l Bank of Ohio, 62 F.3d 791, 801 (6th Cir. 1995).

As the Second Circuit has explained in this liquidation, of the above-listed factors, “the critical aspect of the ‘customer’ definition [in SIPA] is the entrustment of cash or securities to the broker-dealer for the purposes of trading securities.” Net Equity Decision, 654 F.3d at 236; see also New Times, 463 F.3d at 128; Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp. v. Jacqueline Green Rollover Account, 2012 WL 3042986, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. July 25, 2012) (“Jacqueline Green”). An investor, however, cannot legally entrust to a broker-dealer cash or securities that the investor does not own and in which it has no other cognizable property right. As this Court and others have recognized, legal ownership of cash or securities held, or purportedly held, by a broker-dealer is a “foundational element” of “customer” status under SIPA—an indispensable prerequisite which a claimant must satisfy in order to have a colorable “customer” claim under SIPA. See Jacqueline Green, 2012 WL 3042986, at *5; BLMIS, 454 B.R. at 295, 299; see also Morgan Kennedy, 533 F.2d at 1318.

The Second Circuit applied these principles to employee benefit plan beneficiaries in Morgan Kennedy, holding that the employee-beneficiaries of a trust created pursuant to an employer’s profit sharing plan were not SIPA customers on the grounds that: (1) the employer sponsoring the profit-sharing plan and related trust, not the employee-beneficiaries, contributed the funds in the trust account; (2) the trustees of the trust, not the employee-beneficiaries, had the power to decide whether to entrust those funds to the debtor, and, in fact, made that decision; (3) the account was in the name of the trust, not the employee-beneficiaries, and the debtor had no relationship with the employee-beneficiaries; (4) the trustees had the exclusive authority to make all decisions concerning the disposition of assets in the trust account at the debtor; (5) unlimited additions of employee-beneficiaries to, and subtractions from, the profit-sharing plan could be made; (5) the employee-beneficiaries were eligible for benefits only upon termination of employment; and (6) none of the property held in the trust account was allocable to any particular employee-beneficiary. See Morgan Kennedy, 533 F.2d at 1318.

SIPC’s Series 100 Rules, which set forth the circumstances under which multiple accounts held by the same person with a SIPC-member broker-dealer are deemed to be separate accounts eligible for individual protection for purposes of SIPA, heed and reinforce this distinction between entities and their owners or interest holders.² See 17 C.F.R. §§ 300.100–300.105; Morgan Kennedy, 533 F.2d at 1319–20. Under Rule 103, for example, an account held in the name of a corporation, partnership, or unincorporated association “shall be deemed to be a separate customer distinct from the person or persons owning such corporation or comprising such partnership or unincorporated association,” unless the purpose of the entity in question was to obtain or increase protection under SIPA. 17 C.F.R. § 300.103. In other words, the corporation or partnership, not the owners, partners, or interest holders, is the “customer” under SIPA. While the Series 100 Rules determine when different accounts held by the same person will each be treated as a separate “customer” of a liquidating broker-dealer and do not confer “customer” status, the fact that the rules distinguish between an entity and its owners supports the Morgan Kennedy holding that the same distinction must be respected when evaluating eligibility for “customer” status. See Morgan Kennedy, 533 F.2d at 1319 (“Only those accounts which are held by valid customers of the debtor can qualify for separate coverage. Customer status under SIPA is therefore a prerequisite to the application of the [Series 100] Rules, and not a substitute therefor.”) As explained in Morgan Kennedy, the Series 100 Rules “illustrate that, under SIPA, separate coverage for accounts held in different capacities is not to be confused with individual coverage for each individual owning some portion of, or interest in, the particular account.” Id. at 1320.

Applying Morgan Kennedy, this Court and the District Court repeatedly rejected in this liquidation the “customer” claims of claimants who only invested in entities that then invested through BLMIS—whether those entities are feeder funds, plans regulated under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”), or general or limited partnerships. In the case of the feeder funds, for instance, Judge Lifland reasoned, inter alia, that, after purchases of fund interests were made, the cash used by the claimants to make them “became the sole property of the Feeder Funds,” and that the claimants therefore could not have entrusted property to BLMIS and had no legally cognizable claim to any of the assets purportedly held by BLMIS. See BLMIS, 454 B.R. at 295 (emphasis in original); Aozora, 480 B.R. at 125 (“[A]t the moment each appellant used assets to purchase an ownership interest in a Feeder Fund, those assets became property not of the appellants but of the Feeder Fund.”).

² The SIPC Series 100 Rules were submitted to, and approved by, the Securities and Exchange Commission under SIPA section 78cccc(e) and have the force of law. See Mishkin v. Ensminger (In re Adler, Coleman Clearing Corp.), 218 B.R. 689, 699 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1998); In re Inv’rs Center, Inc., 129 B.R. 339, 348 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 1991).

Similarly, in rejecting the claims of ERISA plan participants, this Court noted that the claimants’ “financial transactions were with the [ERISA] Plan. Thus, they failed to satisfy the ‘critical requirement’ that they entrusted cash to BLMIS, as opposed to the [ERISA] Plan, for the purchase of securities.” See Sec. Inv’r Prot. Corp. v. Bernard L. Madoff Inv. Sec. LLC, 515 B.R. 161, 169 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2014) (quoting Kruse, 708 F.3d at 426); see also Jacqueline Green, 2012 WL 3042986, at *5 (“One cannot deposit cash with the debtor if this cash belongs to another.”).

On February 25, 2015, this Court issued a bench ruling granting the Trustee’s motion to uphold his determination denying the claims of general partners who held interests in two Florida partnerships which had invested through BLMIS. (Motion Hr’g Tr. Feb. 25, 2015 [ECF No. 9506]). The Court held that the partners had failed to carry their burden of proving they were SIPA customers entitled to protection (Id. at 35.). Importantly, even if the partners invested in the partnerships in order to invest indirectly in BLMIS, “the fact remains that the partners did not entrust anything to BLMIS,” and they had no interest in the partnerships’ property so entrusted.

(Id. at 31.)

The same reasoning bars the Claimants’ claims here. As investors in, not through, the Companies, the Claimants have no legally cognizable relationship with the Companies’ accounts at BLMIS, and therefore cannot claim “customer” status through the Companies’ accounts. As described in more detail in the Trustee’s memorandum and accompanying declarations, the Claimants did not make deposits into or withdrawals from BLMIS and did not control the investment; only the Companies did. BLMIS’s books and records do not reflect activity by the Claimants in an individual capacity. Importantly, under the relevant state law or operating agreement of each Company, property held in the name of a limited liability company belongs to the company, not its members. VA. CODE ANN. § 13.1-1021 (West 2016) (“Any estate or interest in property may be acquired in the name of the limited liability company, and title to any estate or interest so acquired vests in the limited liability company.”); DEL. CODE ANN. tit. 6, § 18-701 (West 2016) (“A limited liability company interest is personal property. A member has no interest in specific limited liability company property.”); FLA. STAT. § 605.0110(4) (West 2016) (“A member of a limited liability company has no interest in any specific limited liability company property.”). Thus, the property deposited by the Companies belonged to the Companies, not to the Claimants. As a consequence, when the Companies invested property with BLMIS, the Claimants had no cognizable legal relationship with BLMIS and therefore are indistinguishable from the trust beneficiaries denied “customer” status in the Second Circuit’s decision in Morgan Kennedy and the feeder fund investors, ERISA participants, and general partners whose claims this Court and the District Court previously denied.

CONCLUSION

Claimants are not SIPA “customers” because they had no cognizable property interest in any of the assets entrusted by the Companies to BLMIS, had no relationship with BLMIS, and entrusted no property to BLMIS to be held in brokerage accounts for them. Accordingly, the Court should grant the Trustee’s Motion.
